

Post-Irma Collection Update:

Yard waste collection routes have resumed according to their regular schedule. Waste Management crews will be collecting properly prepared yard waste as usual.

The residential services that were missed on Monday will instead be collected on Friday. Those missed on Tuesday will be collected on Saturday.

The current volume of materials that we need to collect is high. Crews may reach truck capacity before completing an entire route. This may delay your typical schedule.

Waste Management expects to complete all regular collection services for the week on Saturday.
